

BRAVE HEARTS

The book that's changing the way people feel about the police.

“Cynthia Brown has accomplished a great feat for America’s law enforcement profession by taking the reader on a unique voyage straight into the hearts and minds of the remarkable people who have chosen the most noble profession — keeping our citizens safe by bringing justice to those who seek to harm them.”

— Craig Floyd, Chairman, National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund & National Law Enforcement Museum

Cynthia Brown, Author

Brave Hearts takes you inside the hearts and minds of fifteen police officers as they go about the difficult task of protecting people from harm. Whether gathering intelligence to stop a terrorist attack, conducting an international narcotics investigation, working undercover to get illegal weapons off the streets, tracking a serial murderer, ending a gun battle, or mediating a domestic dispute, the men and women in Brave Hearts give new life to the word heroic.

You will feel the tragic aftermath of 9/11 as first responders to the disaster share their stories never told before and you will identify with their struggles as they cope with unimaginable violence, cruelty and sadness.

“Remarkable stories of fifteen officers who repeatedly risk their lives, and in some cases their physical and mental health, to serve and protect the citizens of this city. That commitment, courage, and self-sacrifice have been superbly captured in the profiles of the extraordinary people you will meet in the pages of Brave Hearts.”

Raymond W. Kelly, Commissioner, New York City Police Dept.

“Brave Hearts is a seminal work about the complexities of law enforcement work and the complicated challenges inherent in enforcing the law and protecting people from harm.”

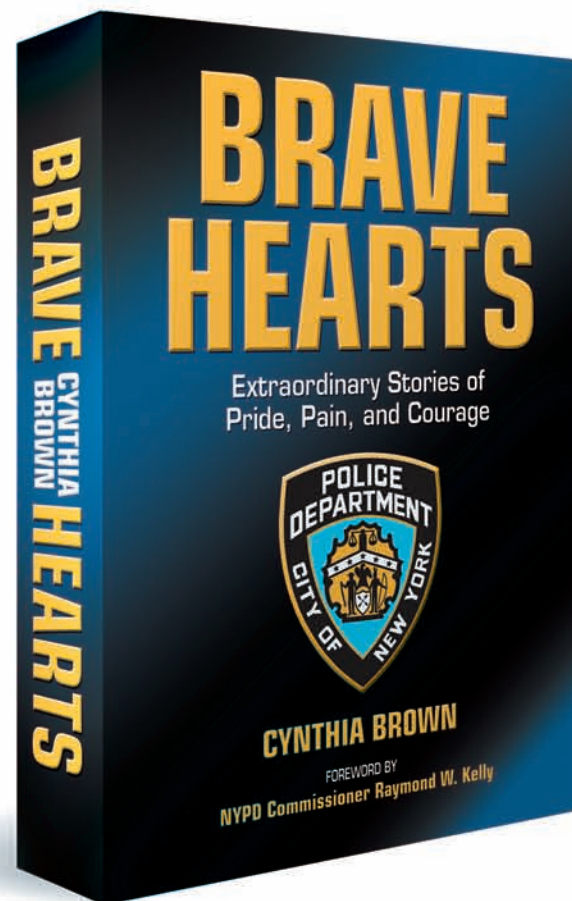

William J. Bratton, former Chief, Los Angeles Police Dept, and former Police Commissioner in New York City and Boston

“A rare intelligent and sympathetic portrayal of law enforcement work. The commitment of the people profiled in this book coupled with the enormous risks they take to protect and serve is the real story of the men and women who have dedicated their lives to a career in law enforcement. We are all in Cynthia Brown’s debt for writing this wonderful book.”

Lee Baca, Sheriff, Los Angeles County Sheriff’s Dept.

“Anyone interested in the police and their unique way of life should read Brave Hearts, fifteen fascinating true stories about cops that dramatically reveal what makes them tick.”

Joseph Wambaugh, best selling author and former Detective-Sergeant, Los Angeles Police Dept.
